

Emmanuel Luciano Crombeen

Curriculum vitae:

Emmanuel Luciano came into contact with classical music thanks to his father and first mentor Marc-Anton Crombeen, who was assistant-conductor of Igor Markevich, during his period as conductor of the Lamoureux orchestra, Marc Anton was also the founder of the “L'octuor de cuivre de Paris”, and graduated with Nadia Boulanger, among others.

Emmanuel took violin lessons with Paul Klinck, Eric Sluys, Olga Zolotareva, Jerrold Rubenstein. He completed his Master's degree at the Royal Conservatory in Gent with Lilia Umnova (certified by M. and S. Rejson Snitkovsky) and Alessandro Moccia. After obtaining his Master's degree in 2014, Emmanuel completed his violin playing with maestro Mikhail Bezverkhni.
